

Company Officer Development Class

by Traditions Training

Class Overview

The Officer Development Course will focus on the fundamental skills that are necessary to be an effective company/command-level officer. An effective fire officer has the ability and responsibility to lead both on and off the fire ground. The focus of this 16-hour course will focus on operational considerations, primarily at structural fires. Specific emphasis will be placed on effectively “breaking-down” incidents into manageable segments. Additionally, the prospective officer will be provided the opportunity to demonstrate the skills learned through realistic scenarios while receiving immediate feedback from experienced instructors.
